

Farm Workers- Know Your Rights.

You Have The Right
To Fair Treatment And A Safe Workplace.

You have the right to:

- written information about your wages and working conditions in a language you understand.
- to be paid the wages you were promised, but never less than the federal minimum wage of $5.15 per hour.
- a written statement showing how much you have earned and all deductions from your pay. • have promises made by employers about the work and the wages honored. • a safe workplace—one that meets federal and state standards. • safe and healthy housing and transportation, if the employer provides them. • safe drinking water, toilets and handwashing facilities at the job—and at no cost to you. • a workplace where all children are protected from unlawful child labor.

Protecting the farmworkers and families who bring food to America's tables.
